Built in 1840 and one of Harrogate's finest hotels, The Old Swan Hotel combines a warm, traditional hospitality with contemporary comfort and extremely flexible meeting space, all set in 5½ acres of private gardens.

Located in the heart of this historic Spa town, and on the edge of the Yorkshire Dales, the hotel was the famous retreat of crime queen Agatha Christie who famously 'disappeared' here in 1926. It was subsequently the location for the film Agatha starring Dustin Hoffman and Vanessa Redgrave in 1977. The hotel retains the elegance and splendour of a former era and is the ideal atmosphere to impress clients and conduct important business events.

Easily accessible from the main motorway network, the Old Swan has ample parking space and is a five minute walk to the centre of town with the Harrogate International Centre, Pump Rooms, gardens, shopping and tea rooms.

Nine conference rooms of varying sizes can accommodate your meeting or event perfectly and all include full business support facilities. The hotel has 136 bedrooms, including suites with private sitting rooms, and our Wedgwood Restaurant and private dining rooms serve an excellent dinner at the end of a busy business day.

Our Conference and Banqueting team can tailor-make your event to match your precise requirements, including team-building itineraries, and we will be on hand to make sure that everything runs smoothly. Call us to discuss your plans.
